1.0 Purpose of Document

This document provides guidance for candidates and review committees in the preparation of dossiers for tenure and/or promotion, including promotion to full professor.

This document is organized by the chronological order of specific activities and not by the order of the materials assembled in the final dossier. Its major sections are:

Section 2.0 Procedures Prior to Submission of Dossier
Section 3.0 Role of Candidate in Dossier Preparation
Section 4.0 Role of Department/College and Evaluation Committees in Dossier Preparation

2.0 Procedures Prior to Submission of Dossier

In light of the coronavirus crisis and likely impact to teaching, research, and service, the Office of the Provost has amended the tenure clock extension policy to be applicable to all tenure-track faculty who were hired before July 1, 2020.

A candidate may request to extend their tenure clock by one year any time before July 1 of the year when dossier is due (e.g., if the dossier is due October 1, 2024, the candidate may request an extension any time before July 1, 2024). The candidate's request, with rationale, should be sent via email to Deb Franko (d.franko@northeastern.edu), Senior Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, with a copy to the candidate's unit head and dean. All submitted requests will be approved. The candidate will receive an approval letter to which the candidate will need to respond and indicate acknowledgment and agreement to the new tenure review date.

All interested candidates are advised to contact their associate dean for faculty and/or unit head to discuss their plans well in advance of making the request. Once a tenure extension year is granted, requests to reverse the approval back to the original tenure review year will be accepted only under very exceptional circumstances.

2.1 Tenure and/or Promotion Advisement

At the beginning of the calendar year preceding tenure consideration, the college dean must notify any appropriate candidates of eligibility for tenure consideration during the next academic year (Model A).

Tenured associate professors may request a review for promotion to full professor in any academic year. Normally, associate professors who maintain excellent momentum following the award of tenure may become ready for promotion consideration in five to seven years. Potential promotion candidates are strongly encouraged to consult regularly with their unit heads and their dean concerning their progress towards promotion. Due dates for requesting promotion consideration and for the submission of promotion dossiers are established by units and colleges as appropriate in order to meet the February 15 deadline for submission of all tenure and/or promotion dossiers to the Office of the Provost.

2.2 External Reviewers

The process of soliciting external reviewers begins in the spring term preceding the submission of the dossier by the candidate to the department. The selection of the reviewers and the solicitation letter follows the university-wide guidelines for tenure and/or promotion dossiers (below) issued in 2008.

2.3 University-wide Guidelines for the Selection of External Reviewers

The guidelines below, which represent the position of the academic deans and the Provost's Office on selecting appropriate reviewers, are an elaboration of the present Faculty Handbook guidelines on tenure and promotion.

1. The units will make a reasonable effort to obtain 6-8 external letters of review.
2. All letters are to be arm's length in terms of prior involvement with the candidate. An arm's length reviewer is defined as someone without a personal vested interest in the outcome of the case, which typically excludes former mentors and close or recent collaborators.
3. All external reviewers need to be high quality scholars from aspirant institutions.
4. The tenure and/or promotion committee, with appropriate consultation with the dean, makes the final selection of reviewers. The candidate may submit names for consideration for inclusion on the review list. The candidate may also provide the names of up to three individuals whom the candidate would prefer not to be reviewers along with an explanation for this preference. The candidate should not contact the reviewers whose names they have submitted prior to or during the tenure and/or promotion review process.
5. The last question to be asked of external reviewers is "Given your assessment of candidate X, would you recommend this person for tenure and/or promotion at your institution?"

2.4 Solicitation Letter

After the list of external reviewers has been reviewed by the dean, the Model Recommendation Request Letter (Model B) is to be used to solicit letters from external reviewers. Reviewers should be supplied with the candidate's complete CV, pertinent Faculty Handbook sections, the candidate's statement on his or her research/scholarship/creative activity, selected recent publications, and any other appropriate materials. A reviewer asked to comment on a candidate's publications should be supplied with a range of publications. Reviewer solicitation may be done through the Interfolio software program or through email.

The solicitation letter should be clear and accurate about the tenure status and rank for which the candidate is being evaluated (e.g., tenure and promotion to associate professor, promotion only to full professor). If a candidate is being evaluated after receiving a tenure clock extension, the term of service for which the candidate is being evaluated must be stated in the recommendation request letter. Suggested language is provided in Model B.1. All letters solicited and received from approved external reviewers must be included in the dossier. In addition, all written communications (including emails) from solicited external reviewers that offer any reflection, positive or negative, on the candidate's qualifications for tenure and/or promotion must be included in the dossier, whether or not the reviewer agrees to write a full evaluation. External reviewers should be informed, when their evaluations are solicited, that all such communications will be included in the candidate's dossier.

2.5 Preparation and Consideration of Dossiers for Tenure on Entry

When senior faculty members are hired at Northeastern with the expectation of tenure on entry, the fundamental requirements of Northeastern's tenure review process, including the preparation of a dossier, its review by a faculty tenure committee, the dean, the Provost and the President, and a tenure vote by the Board of Trustees, remain in place. Some elements of the dossier's documentation and review may be condensed in consideration of the hiring timeline and the differences of procedure and documentation involved in moving from one institution to another. All tenure on entry dossiers, however, must provide sufficient evidence in the three areas of teaching, scholarship and service to support a positive tenure recommendation.

Sufficient evidence includes: the required letters from arm's-length external reviewers (in addition to letters of recommendation from colleagues and collaborators that may be received in the hiring process); the candidate's complete curriculum vitae including information about graduate student supervision, if relevant, and information about institutional and professional service; a sample research publication or similar evidence of scholarly or creative activity; a sample syllabus, a list of courses taught in at least the most recent three years, and a summary of teaching evaluations over the same period in a format as close as reasonably possible to that expected of internal candidates. Statements from the candidate about teaching, research/scholarship/creative activity and service are very helpful and, in many instances, can be derived by the candidate from her or his letter of application for the position at Northeastern.

In addition, the dossier must include (in departmentalized colleges) the department chair's recommendation, the report of the departmental tenure and promotion committee, and the dean's recommendation.

Units planning to present newly hired faculty members for tenure on entry should consult with the Senior Vice Provost for Academic Affairs as soon as the hire is complete about dossier requirements and submission deadlines.

2.6 Preparation and Consideration of Tenure and/or Promotion Dossiers of Candidates Holding Joint Appointments

"In assessing the candidate's achievement and promise of future professional development, it is critical to gather evidence that fully reflects the candidate's performance relative to each of the tenure criteria" (Faculty Handbook, "Tenure"). To meet this standard for faculty holding appointments in more than one academic unit, the review process in the tenure home unit for tenure and/or promotion candidates who hold appointments in more than one unit must incorporate information and perspectives from all the units in which the candidate is appointed.

Procedures for the preparation and review of tenure and/or promotion dossiers of candidates holding joint appointments may be found in the Faculty Handbook at <https://faculty.northeastern.edu/handbook/appointments-promotion-and-tenure/tenure-and-promotion-of-jointly-appointed-faculty/>.

2.7 Consideration of Completed Dossiers by the Provost

The addition of the dean's recommendation (along with any response made by the candidate) completes the tenure and/or promotion dossier. As provided by the Faculty Handbook, the dossier is then forwarded to the Provost, who after reviewing the dossier and in consultation with the President will decide whether to recommend the candidate for tenure and/or promotion. Currently, the Provost also engages an advisory committee to provide additional perspectives in evaluating tenure and/or promotion dossiers. The current membership of the advisory committee includes three or four senior faculty members.

3.0 Role of Candidate in Dossier Preparation

3.1 About the Dossier

Tenure candidates' dossiers are due to the unit tenure committee by October 1 of the year of tenure consideration. Candidates for promotion to full professor and their unit heads should consult with their colleges for due dates. All dossiers for tenure and/or promotion must be received in the Provost's Office by February 15 of the year of consideration.

The dossier is your opportunity to make your professional career come to life. It is the "snapshot" that each level of review will carefully examine and evaluate in coming to a fair and objective recommendation regarding your candidacy for tenure and/or promotion. It is critical that you build your dossier carefully, thoughtfully, and in sufficient time before it must be submitted.

Your dossier should be clear and concise. There is no room for errors, omissions or inaccuracies in the dossier – they may diminish your credibility and undercut your case. Your department/college will solicit external evaluations; thus, we ask that you not solicit letters on your own or include unsolicited letters from students and colleagues. We ask that you carefully review this model dossier document and adhere to the format and guidelines below.

3.2 Dossier Preparation Format and Guidelines

The Provost's Office requires that dossiers be submitted electronically through Interfolio, which is available through the myNortheastern portal. Interfolio is a software program that facilitates electronic submission and review. Supplemental materials included in the dossier's appendices (including raw teaching evaluations, books, publications, creative materials, and so on) should also be submitted electronically through Interfolio. Materials that cannot be submitted electronically (hard copy book) may be submitted separately to the unit. Your department or college will compile electronically the materials required for Sections A (Faculty Summary Sheet), B (Recommendations), and C (External Letters). You will provide complete materials for all other sections of the dossier. Sections D (Curriculum Vitae), E (Candidate's Statements), F (Performance reviews) and G (Comprehensive List of Supporting Materials) must be submitted electronically through Interfolio.

Your dossier must include: each year's annual review toward tenure (including third-year review) and merit reviews; and all other items identified in the Dossier Checklist. You should make copies of any supplementary materials that you believe you may need in the future; tenure and promotion materials may be retained by the Provost's Office for two years or more if a candidate requests arbitration or judicial review of a negative recommendation.

Please do not include in the dossier letters of appointment, annual appointments and confirmations of compensation and benefits, or other items not identified on the dossier checklist. These items will not be considered in the review process.

The total length of the dossier, including the external letters and unit and college recommendations, should not exceed 100 pages. Thus, as a general guideline, candidates should aim at submitting 60 pages in total for sections D, E, F and G of the dossier.

Written materials that you prepare for the electronic dossier, such as your curriculum vitae, should be formatted in 12-point font, with a 1-inch minimum margin. Some required materials, such as previous performance reviews, may need to be scanned for inclusion in the dossier. The sections of the dossier for which you are responsible—Sections D-G—should be submitted to your department or college for review through the Interfolio software program, which can be accessed through the myNortheastern portal following the order of the Dossier Checklist (Model E). Your department or college will provide you with scanning assistance and, if needed, other technical assistance.

You should consult with your chair/associate dean in preparing your dossier to ensure that it meets any additional dossier requirements of your department/college. Academic unit dossier requirements/guidelines should be consistent with Provost's Office requirements as outlined in this document. Please be advised that dossiers that do not follow the Model Dossier's format and the order of the Dossier Checklist WILL NOT be considered for review by the Provost.

3.3 Dossier Organization and Checklist

Please use the dossier checklist as you compile materials to be included in your tenure and/or promotion dossier. The checklist itself (Model E) need not be included in the dossier. Your unit will add the first three sections of the dossier to the electronic file in the course of their review:

1. Faculty Summary Sheet (Model C) – prepared by the Dean's Office
2. Recommendations – added by internal review committees and recommenders
3. External Reviews – added by department review committee or directly submitted through Interfolio

You will prepare and present all the following sections to your unit for their review:

4. Candidate's Comprehensive Dossier Curriculum Vitae
5. Candidate's Statements
 - a. Teaching Statement and Teaching Evaluation Summary Table
 - b. Research/Scholarship/Creative Activity Statement
 - c. Service Statement
6. Performance Reviews
 - a. Annual reviews toward tenure
 - b. Third-year review
 - c. Merit reviews

7. Comprehensive list of Supporting Materials in the Appendices

Appendix A – Teaching: Supporting Materials

Appendix B – Research/Scholarship/Creative Activity: Supporting Materials

Appendix C – Service and Professional Development Activities: Supporting Materials

3.4 Dossier Contents

Dossier Section D – Comprehensive Dossier Curriculum Vitae

Together with your department/college, you are responsible for the accuracy and clarity of your CV. It should observe the guidelines below for content and formatting. Please ensure that a representative of your department/college reviews your CV before it is circulated.

Education/Employment History

You should provide a brief chronological account of your higher education history and all post-baccalaureate employment relevant to your academic discipline.

Research/Scholarship/Creative Activity

Publications - Publications should be listed in separate categories by date of publication within the following categories (arranged in order of importance in your discipline):

1. Reviewed articles
2. Non-Reviewed articles
3. Books
4. Book chapters
5. Abstracts
6. Other

Please provide full citations (please do not abbreviate journal titles), including beginning and ending page numbers. Be clear about the status of works in progress, e.g., “in press” means written, reviewed, accepted, and waiting for publication. Please include anticipated date of publication. Work “currently under review” (i.e., not yet accepted for publication) should be included if the work is complete and has been submitted for review. Work currently under development but not yet submitted should not be included.

If a work under review is accepted for publication before your dossier has been forwarded by the department (or equivalent unit) to the next level for review, you should notify the department (or equivalent unit) committee chairperson. The department (or equivalent unit) may then consider the work “in press” and update the dossier accordingly.

Where co-authoring is extensive and not typical in the field, a major collaborator should be invited by the tenure and/or promotion committee to indicate in a letter the contributions made by the candidate to the joint work (one letter may address multiple publications by the team, if applicable). Where coauthoring is common in your field, it may be helpful to indicate that in your statement on scholarship. Be sure to indicate publications co-authored with graduate and undergraduate students. Edited volumes should be clearly identified as such.

Presentations and proceedings should be listed separately by date. Internally published technical reports, workbooks, etc. should be separate from peer-reviewed publications.

Creative Activity - Achievements should be listed by date within the following categories:

1. Publication
2. Presentation
3. Performance
4. Exhibition
5. Projects

If creative works do not fit into the above categories, please clearly group creative achievements under categories that best characterize your work and are broadly accepted in your discipline and academic community.

Include full citations/descriptions for all works in the curriculum vitae and clearly specify the status of works in progress.

Grants

Please list internal and external grants separately. It is recommended that you also list proposals that were not funded. If you list unsuccessful applications, those should be clearly differentiated from successful ones. Pending proposals should be listed with the amount requested and the notification date. For each successful grant, please identify your status – PI, co-PI, other, as well as the roles of other participants on the grant – and indicate the percentage of the grant attributed to your effort (as reported on the grant Proposal Processing Form). If a grant supports programmatic or group work, you should clarify your precise role in the work. You should indicate the amount received (total direct costs and annual budget) and the coverage period of successful grants, as well as the funding agency and the title of the proposal.

External

- Funded
- Pending
- Not funded
(optional but recommended)

Internal

- Funded
- Pending
- Not funded
(optional but recommended)

Teaching and Advising

Courses – Please list all courses taught, year, quarter/semester, number of students. Identify courses taught for extra compensation (e.g., overloads, summer courses, courses at other schools). Please identify any new courses you have developed.

Supervision of Graduate Students – Identify all masters and doctoral candidates supervised, completion dates, and thesis/dissertation titles (as space allows).

Supervision of Undergraduate Students – Identify all undergraduate students supervised as part of their honors thesis. Include completion dates and thesis titles (as space allows).

Advising Activities – Identify all undergraduate and graduate advising activities.

Service and Professional Development

Please list all significant service assignments and activities, as well as professional development activities, in separate categories by date.

1. Service to the Institution
 - a. Department service
 - b. School service
 - c. College service
 - d. University service
2. Service to the Discipline/Profession
3. Service to the Community/Public
4. Professional Development

Dossier Section E – Candidate’s Statements and Supporting Evidence

Please note changes to this section starting in 2019-20.

Statement on Teaching

You should begin with a statement of your teaching philosophy. You should identify courses taught and discuss your involvement in curriculum development, supervision of graduate and undergraduate students, and advising. Your statement may place quantitative student evaluations in context, for example by comparing your evaluations with those in similar-sized courses in your discipline, with other courses at the same level, courses taught mainly for majors/non-majors, and so forth. You should also discuss other contributions to teaching, such as development of pedagogical tools or interactive pedagogical methods, or components related to diversity, equity, and inclusion¹, and should describe actions you have taken to incorporate appropriate shared learning goals—e.g., goals of the major discipline and/or NUPath. Your statement should describe your efforts to integrate classroom-based and experiential education and any other involvement with co-op or other form of experiential education.

Supporting Evidence for Teaching

Candidates must include as supporting evidence of teaching the Teaching Evaluation Summary Table (please use Model D on page 25).

The Teaching Evaluation Summary Table should clearly list in chronological order all courses taught, with numbers of students enrolled in each class. You should clearly identify courses taught for extra compensation. Tenure candidates must include the results of TRACE and any other university evaluations for all sections of all courses you have taught. If any evaluations are missing, explain why. Additionally, please note any additional forms of teaching evaluation (e.g., peer classroom observations) in the Teaching Evaluation Summary Table. Include reports of those evaluations in Appendix A. If your unit administers student evaluations in addition to the TRACE instrument, you should include these additional teaching evaluation results in the Supporting Documents on Teaching in Appendix A.

Candidates for promotion to full professor who are seven or fewer years beyond tenure must supply information on all courses taught post-tenure in the Teaching Evaluation Summary Table. Candidates for full professor who are more than seven years beyond tenure must supply complete TRACE information from their seven most recent years of teaching.

All other supporting evidence for teaching, including all TRACE reports, should be included in Appendix A.

Statement on Research/Scholarship/Creative Activity

You should state the focus of your research, scholarship and/or creative activity. You should explain the questions that you have identified, the funding you have received to support the work (if applicable) and the directions it has taken, the venues in which your research, scholarship, or creative work has been disseminated, and provide indications of its impact on your academic community and, if applicable, in arenas outside the academy. You should include a discussion of any research/scholarship/creative activity you have undertaken with students or with the external community or that incorporates diversity, equity, and inclusion¹. Finally, you should discuss the questions that you expect to address in the future. Candidates for promotion to full professor should focus primarily on research, scholarship and creative activity since the award of tenure.

All publications should be included in Appendix B.

Statement on Service

You should address the three areas of service, as applicable: service to the institution, service to the discipline/profession, and academically-grounded service to the community/public. You should begin with a statement of your service philosophy and identify the areas in which you have made strong contributions. You should then discuss service undertaken in each of the three areas, focusing on leadership positions held and special projects completed, and, if applicable, on activities involving diversity, equity, and inclusion¹. Candidates for promotion to full professor should focus primarily on service and leadership contributions since the award of tenure.

All supporting evidence for service should be included in Appendix C.

Dossier Section F – Performance Reviews

Candidates for tenure must include all previous performance reviews (annual reviews toward tenure; third-year review; and merit reviews) in the dossier. These reviews should provide a thorough and candid assessment of the candidate's performance and progress during the probationary period.

Candidates for promotion to full professor who are seven or fewer years beyond the award of tenure must include all their post-tenure performance reviews (i.e., merit reviews) in the promotion dossier. Candidates for full professor who are more than seven years beyond the award of tenure must include performance reviews from at least the most recent seven years.

Dossier Section G – Comprehensive List of Contents for Appendices A, B, and C.

This section provides readers of your dossier with a full table of contents for all the supporting materials included in your appendices. Please organize and list your supplemental materials in a way that will enable readers of your dossier to locate supplemental items efficiently. Given space limitations, this list is typically two pages or less.

3.5 Dossier Appendices

The appendices to the dossier include all additional evidence and supporting materials you wish to present regarding your accomplishments in teaching, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service. You may include references to these materials in your dossier. The appendices should be compiled in an electronic file separate from Sections A – G. Note that maximum upload file size is 100MB. If your appendix exceeds 100MB, divide into smaller files and name accordingly (Appendix A1, Appendix A2, etc.).

Appendix A. Teaching: Supporting Materials

- Full reports of TRACE evaluations must be included for all sections of all courses taught. The Faculty Handbook mandates that tenure-track faculty members be evaluated each year using at least one other form of teaching evaluation in addition to the TRACE evaluations. These additional forms of teaching evaluation need not be the same for each year on the tenure track, and may include peer classroom evaluations; a teaching portfolio; a comprehensive presentation of classroom materials, including syllabi, examinations, assignments, etc. Multiple-year peer classroom evaluations are particularly helpful. In whatever format the additional teaching evaluations are conducted, the full record of those teaching evaluations must be included in Appendix A.
- Advising Activity
- Sample Syllabi
- Sample Teaching Materials– Possible materials include copies of exams, evaluation methods, excerpts of class presentations, materials from new courses you have developed, and samples of student work.
- Other – Other evidence of exemplary teaching (e.g., teaching awards, student letters).

Appendix B. Research/Scholarship/Creative Activity: Supporting Materials

Publications, creative works, final reports for grants, grant summaries, and other evidence of research, scholarship and creative activity should be included in this section.

Appendix C. Service: Supporting Materials

Materials that support substantive internal and external service activities should be included here.

4.0 Role of Department/College and Evaluation Committees in Dossier Preparation

The department and college will add sections A, B, and C to the electronic dossier. To ensure confidentiality, the college should transmit the complete electronic dossier from the Dean's Office to the Office of the Provost through the Interfolio software program.

4.1 Dossier Section A – Faculty Summary Sheet

The Faculty Summary Sheet will be provided and completed by the Dean's Office. All data should be accurate, particularly start dates, lateral credit, leaves, and current rank. See Models C.1 and C.2 for templates. This section must clearly identify early tenure candidates.

4.2 Dossier Section B – Recommendations

The recommended length for recommendations is 3 pages.

Please note: All internal recommendations should be uploaded to the "Internal Documents" section of the Interfolio software program.

Dean's Recommendation

The dean's recommendation should provide a well-reasoned, independent assessment of the candidate that builds upon the reports of the department and college committees. To add value to the evaluation process, the dean should provide a perspective on matters that may not have been obvious at the previous levels. They should assess all aspects of the faculty member's activities – teaching, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service – as well as the unit's long-term need. Issues raised by external reviewers may need to be clarified by the dean; if the dean has reservations about the quality or objectivity of any of the external reviewers, they should be discussed here. If the department chair has not commented on the quality and appropriateness of the journals in which the candidate has published, the dean should provide this evaluation. If disciplinary rankings of the journals exist, they can be used. References to outside reviewers' comments should preserve the anonymity of the reviewers.

A balanced assessment of the candidate based on the record presented will be more convincing than a statement filled with superlatives unsupported by documentation. The dean should identify the candidate's strengths and weaknesses, rather than become an advocate for the candidate. The recommendation should draw a conclusion.

College Advisory Committee (where applicable)

The college report should build upon, not repeat, the department's report and reviewers' letters. This report should assess the strengths and weaknesses of the candidate on the basis of the evidence presented in the dossier. It should be evaluative, providing judgments backed by information. It should discuss all aspects of the candidate's work—instruction, research/scholarship/creative activity, and service—and should indicate why the candidate does or does not meet the established tenure criteria. Grant activity should be discussed in the context of available funding in the discipline and the importance of external support in conducting research/scholarship/creative activity. If the dossier contains conflicting evaluations, the report should discuss and evaluate/resolve the issues raised. References to outside reviewers' comments and evaluations should preserve the anonymity of the reviewers.

As appropriate, the college report should also discuss the candidate's fit in the department and college, both in terms of his/her ability to fill a need and in terms of quality: Does the person offer expertise in areas needed by the department/college? Will the person improve the quality of the department/college? The criteria used in making the decision should be indicated.

If a member of the College Advisory Committee has worked closely with the candidate (as a co-author or co-PI), that relationship should be clearly noted. Under these circumstances, the member should consider disqualifying him/herself from the review. If a member of the College Advisory Committee is a faculty member in the candidate's department, they recuse themselves from the review.

Department/School Committee Report (where applicable)

The department committee report should assess the strengths and weaknesses of the candidate on the basis of the evidence in the dossier. It should be evaluative – opinions backed by information. It should discuss all aspects of the candidate's work: teaching, research/scholarship/creative activity and service, and should indicate why the candidate does or does not meet the established tenure criteria. Grant activity should be discussed in the context of available funding in the discipline and the importance of external support in conducting research/scholarship/creative activity. The report should discuss and evaluate external recommendations. If the dossier contains conflicting evaluations, the report should discuss and evaluate/resolve the issues raised.

References to outside reviewers' comments and evaluations should preserve the anonymity of the reviewers. The department committee report should place quantitative teaching evaluations into an appropriate context, assessing the candidate's evaluations in comparison with those of instructors teaching the same or similar courses. In tenure cases, the report should also discuss the candidate's fit in the department/college, both in terms of their ability to fill an appropriate need and in terms of quality: Does the person offer expertise in areas needed by the department/college? Will the person improve the quality of the department/college? The criteria used in making the decision should be indicated.

In early tenure cases, there should be an indication of why the candidate is being considered early and why the department supported the candidate for early consideration, even if the department's recommendation is negative.

If a member of the committee has worked closely with the candidate (as a co-author or co-PI), that relationship should be clearly noted. Under these circumstances, the member should consider recusing him/herself from the review.

Chair's Report (where applicable)

The chair's report is forwarded to the department committee for consideration prior to its vote. It should independently evaluate the candidate's dossier and assess the strengths and weaknesses of the candidate. It should be evaluative and objective – providing opinions backed by information. It should discuss all aspects of the candidate's work: instruction, research/scholarship/creative activity and service, and should indicate why the candidate does or does not meet the established tenure and/or promotion criteria. Grant activity should be discussed in the context of available funding in the discipline and the importance of external support in conducting research/scholarship/creative activity. The report should discuss and evaluate external recommendations, address any issues the reviewers raise, and discuss any conflicts among reviews. Of course, all references to outside reviewers' comments and evaluations should preserve the anonymity of the reviewers. In tenure cases, the report should also discuss the candidate's fit into the department/college, both in terms of their ability to fill an appropriate need and in terms of quality: Does the person offer expertise in areas needed by the department?

Will the person improve the quality of the department? The criteria used in making the decision should be indicated. In early tenure cases, the chairperson should indicate why the candidate is being considered for early tenure, and whether the chairperson supported the candidate proceeding with early tenure consideration.

If the chair of the department has worked closely with the candidate (as a co-author or co-PI), that relationship should be clearly noted.

4.3 Dossier Section C – External Reviews

Please note: All materials detailed below should be uploaded to the “External Documents” section of the Interfolio software program. As noted earlier, the Interfolio system may be used to solicit external review letters, but this is not a requirement and can also be done via email.

External Reviewers

As specified in Section 2.2, the selection of external reviewers and the solicitation letter follow the university-wide guidelines issued in 2008.

Short Bio for External Reviewers

A short biography listing the reviewer’s major accomplishments in the field, evaluating the standing of the reviewer’s institution or department within the discipline, and providing any other information needed for understanding why the reviewer was chosen must be supplied for each external reviewer. The page requirement on the total length of the dossier will not accommodate the inclusion of full CVs from external reviewers, thus one brief paragraph per external reviewer is recommended.

Copy of Solicitation Letter

A copy of the letter used to solicit external reviewers should be included.

External Reviewer Letters

All letters solicited must be included in the dossier.

Exclusion of Unsolicited Materials

As noted in the Faculty Handbook, unsolicited materials from any source may not be included in the dossier or reviewed by evaluators.

5.0 Definitions and Examples of Activities Involving Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

5.1 Definitions²:

“Diversity refers to all of the ways in which people differ, including primary characteristics, such as age, race, gender, ethnicity, mental and physical abilities, and sexual orientation.
